GOSPEL SET FOR TODAY: Matthew 22 vv1 - 14

It is a strange Gospel. One understands that the host was fed up that his invited guests found excuses not to be at the party. It is wonderful that the host then brings in the vulnerable and the rejected to be part of the celebration. So, why pick on the one who didn't follow the correct dress-code.

It was the tradition, that at a wedding banquet the host provided everyone with the correct clothing. This guest clearly rejected the offer of clothing and thus was put out of the celebration.

So what does it all mean? God's love is for all, clearly. But if you reject the justice, peace and love that the divine pathway offers, then you must live with the alternative. That could bring you bitterness, despair and a lack of hope. The parable ends with a reminder that all people are called to the pathway of God's love, but not all choose to accept it.

THOSE WHO WE REMEMBER THIS WEEK

Monday October 12 Edith Cavell Nurse 1918

Edith Louisa Cavell was a British nurse and humanitarian heroine of World War I.

She pioneered modern nursing education in Belgium as matron of the Berkendael Medical Institute and treated wounded soldiers from both sides without discrimination. During German occupation, she helped about 200 Allied soldiers and civilians escape to neutral Netherlands, was arrested in August 1915, and executed by firing squad on 12 October. Her death caused international outrage and she is remembered worldwide as a symbol of courage, compassion, and duty, with memorials and tributes in several countries. On the night before she died, sitting with a chaplain they said the words of "Abide with me". Then Edith said her now famous words:

"Patriotism is not enough, I must have no hatred or bitterness towards anyone"

Tuesday October 13 Edward the Confessor King of England 1066

Edward's reign was remembered as a period of peace and prosperity. Those who lived through the bloodshed and turmoil of the conquest that followed looked back fondly to Edward's time. Although there were raids by the Welsh and Scots and occasional bands of vikings, the kingdom itself was never in danger. Peaceful alliances established at the start of the reign ensured that Edward was respected by neighbouring powers. People had more money in their pockets too. The evidence is in the numbers of individual coin losses which are found by metal detectorists. More have been found from Edward's reign than from comparable periods under his predecessors.

Thursday October 15 Teresa of Avila Teacher 1582

Saint Teresa of Avila was a Spanish nun who lived in the 1500s. She is known for her deep love of God and her work to reform the Carmelite order. Teresa wanted the nuns to live more simply and focus on prayer. She believed this would help them grow closer to God. She was a friend of St John of the Cross and once, when caught in a violent storm, and she was stuck in the mud, was heard to say:

"If this is how God treats his friends, what is it like for his enemies"

Friday October 16 Nicholas Ridley & Hugh Latimer Bishops Martyrs 1555

In Oxford's St Giles there is a huge Victorian memorial to the Oxford Martyrs, close to the spot where they were burned at the stake. Today marks 460 years since the deaths of two of them, Nicholas Ridley and Hugh Latimer, in 1555. The third, Thomas Cranmer, was burnt five months later on 21 March 21, 1556. They were convicted during the reign of Mary Tudor, known as 'Bloody Mary' for her relentless persecution of Protestants.

Saturday October 17 Ignatius Bishop of Antioch Martyr 107

For many Christians throughout the years, the name St. Ignatius of Antioch carries certain respect due to the trials this saint went through. His commitment to Christ was unwavering, even amid strong persecution which led to his martyrdom. He taught his followers the knowledge of Jesus Christ to make better disciples of them for the Lord.
